

NEBEKER SAYS VICTORY IS SURE

Democratic National Committeeman Brings Cheering
Report From the East.

BRYAN WAVE SWEEP ALONG

DOUBTFUL STATES MAY ALL CAST VOTE FOR HIM.

Frank K. Nebeker, Democratic national committeeman from Utah, has just returned from the east and is jubilant over the prospects for success for the Democratic ticket.

Said Mr. Nebeker: "I have been in Chicago for about a week, and in close touch with the men who are directing the campaign of the Democratic party. I had the pleasure while in the east of accompanying Mr. Bryan from Chicago to Peoria on the occasion of the Illinois state convention there. Unless appearances are not to be relied upon, our candidates are incomparably stronger than ever before. Indeed, I have very respectable Republican authority for it that Bryan and Kern would be elected if a vote were taken when public sentiment is as friendly to them as at the present time. There is no question but that the national candidates of the Democratic party would be elected if a vote were taken tomorrow."

"Labor day in Chicago with its gigantic procession of wage-earners was, from a political standpoint, a most significant occasion. Mr. Bryan as guest of honor reviewed the parade as it passed along Michigan avenue. The marching hosts of toilers did not attempt to conceal their enthusiasm for the great commoner, whose election means the ushering in of a brighter era for the workingman. It was a great demonstration in favor of the national Democratic ticket, and the same time it gave to Mr. Bryan the opportunity of explaining to the laborers of Chicago the labor provisions of the Denver platform. It seems to me that good fortune could not have offered to the Democratic standard-bearer a greater strategic advantage than that of the Labor day celebration in Chicago."

Panic Cry Won't Work.

"Of great importance in this campaign is the announced intention of the great philanthropist and publicist, Nathan Strauss, to organize a national industrial and business men's league. This organization will undertake, among other things, to counteract the hitherto successful efforts of the Republican party to stampede the voters just before election by shouting 'panic' and 'hard times.' Mr. Strauss possesses an unbounded confidence of the business men of the country, and through his efforts, as well as through the influence of an enlightened public sentiment, I believe that the Republican party will be compelled to eliminate their panic specialty from their program this year. A Republican panic has taken place too recently, and its effects are now being too generally felt, to enable that party to misguide the American people on the subject of panics. As Mr. Bryan so aptly expressed it, 'It is impossible to fall out of bed if you are already lying upon it.'"

"I was much pleased to find that the provision of the Denver platform, providing for the guaranty of national bank deposits is meeting with enthusiastic public approval throughout all sections of the country. The Republicans just now are in doubt as to whether to attack this plan, or to say that it is not an issue in the campaign. The fact is, they have made no headway in the attacks they have made thus far. However, as Mr. Taft has already taken such liberties with the Chicago platform, I would not be surprised if he were to adjust himself to the public demand for the guaranty of bank deposits. The Republicans have already pilfered so many of our principles, I think they would not hesitate to annex this one when they find that it is absolutely necessary to do so."

Why Roosevelt Butted In.

"It is a matter of frequent comment that Mr. Taft lacks the elements of leadership necessary to enable him to accept the many challenges offered by Mr. Bryan. It is quite generally believed, I think, that the inability to meet the issues as they are tendered was the occasion of the recent intervention of the president of the United States in Mr. Taft's behalf. The American people, however, have no admiration for a presidential candidate who is afraid to defend his own position; they have no confidence in a presidential candidate who is either unwilling from lack of courage or otherwise to let the people know just where he stands on the questions involved in the campaign. It will not suffice to have President Roosevelt, or anyone else, speak for him. He will find before the campaign is over that if he expects the American people to have confidence in him he must speak for himself."

Conditions in Doubtful States.

"Conditions in all of the doubtful states are decidedly in favor of the Democratic candidate. In New York Bryan and Kern are especially strong, and the Democratic ticket is enthusiastically supporting the national ticket. The Republicans are divided. A large number of the voters of that party will not cast their ballots for Mr. Hughes. The opposition to him has its nucleus high up among the leaders of his own party."

"In Illinois the trend of public sentiment is unquestionably in favor of Bryan and Kern. The labor vote of Chicago will be for him. The plan offered in the Democratic platform for the security of bank deposits is meeting with great popular favor throughout the state. All of the Democratic leaders of that state are acting in entire harmony, while the Republicans are badly divided. Their candidate for senator, Mr. Hopkins, and for governor, Mr. Denen, carried the primaries by a narrow margin, and the defeated factions are openly advocating the defeat of the state Republican ticket as the only method of clearing the atmosphere and of perpetuating Republican control in that state. Adlai E. Stevenson will undoubtedly be elected governor of Illinois."

"In Iowa the 'stand-patters' and the 'progressives' have battled about a deadlock in the state legislature, and both sides say that it is a fight to a finish. When it is realized that tariff reform is the rock upon which the Republican party of that state is split it is plain to see that the propaganda of the progressive Republicans is one of the best arguments in favor of the election of the Democratic ticket."

"I could mention equally encouraging conditions in at least a half dozen other states now claimed by Republicans, but I do not deem it necessary to particularize further. The fact is that it will require a far greater effort than the Republicans are able to put forth in this campaign to stem the tide of public sentiment which has already set in in the direction of Democratic success."

"I am advised by men of long experience in national politics that the national organization of the Democratic party was never in better condition than it is at the present time. Chairman Mack is manifesting consummate skill in his selection of the heads of the various departments. He is disclosing great genius for organization, and although aggressive, commands the respect and confidence of all classes."

HOW TO AVOID APPENDICITIS.

Most victims of appendicitis are those who are habitually constipated. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures chronic constipation by stimulating the liver and bowels, and restores the natural action of the bowels. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. F. J. Hill Drug Co., "The Never Substitutors."

EXPLOSION OF GASOLINE

Accident at Mare Island Navy Yard
Results in Death of Chief Machinist May.

Vallejo, Cal., Sept. 18.—The explosion of 250 gallons of gasoline on board a barge moored abreast the submarine boats Grampus and Pike, at the Mare Island navy yard this afternoon, resulted in the death of Chief Machinist Teddy May and injuries to Lieutenant J. S. Townsend, Chief Gunner's Mate W. H. Leahy and Chief Gunner's Mate Moarlin. Both submarine boats were badly scorched. The tender Fortune and the tug Unadilla were also injured, the latter having been moored abreast the submarines and immediately catching fire.

The explosion occurred without warning, throwing flames in all directions and causing the most spectacular fire ever seen at the navy yard. The men were forced to jump overboard to escape from the flames. It was thought all had been rescued, but when the fire was gotten under control it was found that Machinist May was missing. He is said to have been on the barge immediately preceding the explosion, and it is believed that he plunged overboard and, being unable to swim, was drowned.

Immediately following the explosion the flames spread down the hatchways of the two submarines, catching the men like rats in a trap, and it was with the greatest difficulty that they escaped.

The barge was used as a workshop for the crew of the submarine boats, and it is supposed that some workman dropped a match, causing the explosion. The injured men will recover. The amount of damage done to the boats has not yet been estimated.

Grateful Father Tells of

CURE ACHIEVED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"It gives me great pleasure to express my deep gratitude in appreciation of the incalculable benefit that the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent did my little boy. He had an awful rash all over his body and the doctor said it was eczema. It was terrible and used to weep awfully. Any place the water went it would form another sore and it would become crusted. A score or more physicians failed utterly and dismally in their efforts to remove the trouble. Then I was told to use the Cuticura Remedies. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and before we had used half the Resolvent I could see a change in him. In about two months he was entirely well. When people see him now they ask, 'What did you get to cure your baby?' and all we can say is, 'It was the Cuticura Remedies.' So in us Cuticura will always have firm and warm friends. George F. Lambert, 139 West Centre St., Mahanoy City, Pa., September 28 and November 4, 1907."
